The Applicants direct the Examiner to these applications to consider whether the subject matter claimed, now or as may be amended in the future, as well as the associated prosecution history, now or in the future, may be relevant to the patentability of the present application (e.g., for reasons of patentability or obviousness-type double patenting). The Applicants have listed all of the corresponding U.S. publication numbers that they are presently aware of. For applications that have not published in the U.S., the Applicants have provided copies of the applications as filed, which comprise the corresponding international publications. The corresponding International Publication Nos. are provided above for applications that have not published in the United States. The Applicants believe that the Examiner has access to the associated file histories for each of these applications through the Patent Office (e.g., the IFW system).
